These days, real influence comes from personal, not positional, authority. Each of us wants to get our ideas and opinions across, enlist the help of others, and control events. And we want to make a positive impact on our colleagues, teams and organisations.

Doing so demands impressive influencing skills. And Positive Power and Influence® (PPI) is the world's most popular and successful programme for developing those skills.

We'd like you to join us at one of our free PPI Previews. We'll explain how PPI develops your understanding of influencing styles – and gives you the ability and confidence to choose the right style for any situation.

PPI is an invaluable experience for people in every area, and at every level:

- Directors, managers and others looking for stronger 'people skills'
- Those who negotiate with clients, suppliers and other external contacts
- Newly-promoted people now dealing with more senior staff
- Innovators who need to 'sell' their ideas within the organisation
- Consultants and others with accountability but little formal authority.

Our Previews are relaxed and informal, with around ten guests and including a buffet lunch. The latest dates are listed below, and all the RSVP details. We very much hope to see you at a PPI Preview very soon.
